

Armament Graduate School Application Instructions

Armament Graduate School, Grimes Hall

Bldg. 3411 Old Belt Road, Picatinny Arsenal, NJ

You are applying for a PhD program in Armament Engineering. You will have an opportunity to earn a Master's degree as you pursue your PhD, but no admissions offers are made for the Master's as the terminal degree. The program is available at no cost to you if you continue to work for the federal government for at least three years following your last AGS enrollment. Earlier departure from federal service may result in those costs becoming your responsibility.

Application Process

Step 1: Complete the attached application and electronically return by May 9, 2026 to:

Email:

Subject: Armament Graduate School Admission

Step 2: Also submit these three components by the same deadline:

- A) Official transcripts from all previously attended universities (even if no degree was awarded)
- B) A recommendation letter from your supervisor, which must address:
 - the applicant's technical proficiency
 - the applicant's work ethic
 - the applicant's leadership ability or demonstrated potential
 - the overall benefit to the Army of this applicant's participation in the program
 - a clear statement of the supervisor's support for the applicant's pursuit of a PhD
- C) The applicant's personal statement, including at least:
 - why you would be a good fit with the AGS (e.g., alignment with career goals, strengths or experience you bring to the program, etc.)
 - your current thoughts on what topic area you expect to pursue for your dissertation research
 - any explanations of your transcript record that you would like the committee to consider

Step 3: An admissions committee will review your application and credentials. If you have questions about the admission process or about your admission decision, please email (above) and an AGS staff member will respond. An AGS staff member may contact you if there are questions about your application or supporting documents.

Step 4: If you are admitted, a message confirming admission will be sent to the email address you provide on your application.
